About

Hi! I'm Luisfer. I enjoy creating dynamic and powerful designs from start to finish.

Graphic designer & web developer providing creative service and consultancy to international clients in diverse fields – such as culture and politics – keeping close attention to detail and aiming for timeless yet contemporary results, while finding the perfect balance between function/accessibility and aesthetic/culture. Focused on developing powerful experiences through branding and bold typography. Constantly growing and improving. In the meantime I explore the potential of data visualization, typeface and illustration :-)

Always thinking. Always desiging.
